Blue Cross - Blue Shield Offered

June 25-July 14
Group Plan For Paying Hospital And Doctor's Bills Is Open To City And County Residents

A Blue Cross-Blue Shield enrollment will be conducted in Princeton and Caldwell county during the period from June 25 to July 14, it is announced by F. Walker, administrator of the Caldwell County War Memorial Hospital.

Blue Cross is a plan for paying hospital bills, sponsored by the Kentucky State Hospital Association, locally, and the American Hospital Association nationally. It is reported to be a non-profit organization.

Blue Shield, a plan for payment on doctors fees, will be offered in connection with the enrollment, Dr. B. K. Amos, president of the Caldwell County Medical Society said.

The Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan will be offered to employed persons and, for a two-day period, to the enrollment, will be open for individual membership. The time for this enrollment will be announced at a later date. In the group plan, groups of five or more persons are required to form a Blue Cross or Blue Shield group. In groups of more than five, 40 per cent of the membership is required, it was stated.

The distinction between Blue Cross and Blue Shield should be clear, Dr. Amos said. Blue Cross takes care of such hospital charges as a liberal allowance on room and board, unlimited cost of general nursing care, ordinary drugs, bandages, use of operating and delivery rooms, oxygen, and other services provided under hospital contract.

Blue Shield, on the other hand, is a surgical plan and a medical-surgical plan, providing up to $50 for professional services of surgeons and doctors, it was explained. Under the surgical plan, payments apply to surgical procedures, maternity care, fractures and dislocations which are treated in the hospital, doctor's office, or the home. Under the medical-surgical plan, they apply only to such procedures, but also an allowance on payments to doctor in charge of a subscriber's care during a hospitalization that does not require surgery, such as pneumonia, it was stated.

Frank B. Blackburn Rites Held Sunday

Contractor Supervised Construction Of Local Churches And Schools

Funeral services for Frank B. Blackburn, prominent building and roofing contractor of Princeton, were conducted at 3:30 p. m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church by the Rev. Irvine L. Parrett, pastor of the Northside Baptist Church. Burial was in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Mr. Blackburn died at 10 p. m. Friday night at the Caldwell County War Memorial Hospital after suffering a paralytic stroke at his home, 214 South Jefferson street, about 8:30 the same evening. He had completed the installation of a roof on a dwelling in the city that day.

A native of the Farmersville community, Mr. Blackburn was the son of the late Lewis and Elizabeth Jane Street Blackburn and was the last member of a family of eight children.

Mr. Blackburn spent his lifetime as a builder and contractor, moving to Princeton while a young man. One of the leading contractors of the city, he supervised the building of the First Baptist and Ogden Memorial Methodist churches and built the East Side grade and Butler High schools. Several business houses were remodeled and numerous houses in the city were constructed by him. In later years, he confined his activities to the roofing business.

He united with the First Baptist Church more than 25 years ago and was a regular attendant at services of the church.

In 1920, Mr. Blackburn was married to Miss Lena Blackburn of this city, who survives. Among other survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Fred A. Talley, and one grandson, John Barry. His first wife, the former Miss Nola Hobbs, preceded him in death about 40 years.

Active bearers were grand-nephews, while members of the Berean Bible class, of which he was a member, were honorary bearers.

Whether the Butler band enters the State Fair contest depends on the securing of transportation of the band members and equipment to Louisville, Mr. Bryant said.

Funeral Services For Mrs. F. G. Wood Held Here Monday

Active Church, Civic Worker Was Recognized Nationally As A Poet And Music Composer

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank G. Wood, active church worker, club leader and member of a pioneer family of Princeton, were conducted at the home, 221 East Main street, at 4 p. m. Monday by the Rev. Floyd A. Loperfido, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church. Burial was in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Wood was injured in a traffic accident Monday night, April 16, and never recovered from the shock. She died at 6:40 a. m. Sunday, June 17, at the Caldwell County War Memorial Hospital.

Annie Fuller Wood was born at Princeton, April 8, 1881, the daughter of the late William James Fuller and Carrie M. Henry. She was educated in the public schools of Princeton and Princeton Collegiate Institute. Early in life she united with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church and was an active worker in church circles.

Miss Fuller was married to Frank G. Wood, August 24, 1904, and with Mr. Wood had been a member of the church choir for the past 47 years. Mr. and Mrs. Wood, who possessed unusual voices, have given their services at funerals more than any other citizens of the city.

Mrs. Wood was a member of the Federated Music Club and had received wide recognition as a composer. Her anthems had been sung in the Christian, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches of Princeton and in a number of out-of-town churches. In former years, she directed the Choral Club of Princeton and was also a private vocal instructor.

Composer of a number of poems, Mrs. Wood's verses had received national recognition and a number of them have been published in "Anthology of American Poets." Active in the social and civic life of the community, as well as religious work, Mrs. Wood had served in a wide variety of services to her community. During World War I and II she was active in the sale of bonds and had been a Red Cross and Community Chest leader.

She had served as chairman of the library board since 1944 and was chairman of the committee that organized the woman's Auxiliary of the Caldwell County War Memorial Hospital. She was also chairman of the advisory board of that committee. She was president of the Wood Circle of the Presbyterian Church and had been a member of the Booklovers Club since 1907.

Among the survivors are the husband and one sister, Miss Angeline Henry, both of 221 East Main street.

Six Butler Boys Attend Boys State

Local Clubs, Merchants Sponsor Youths Chosen For Their Leadership

Six students at Butler High School have been selected to attend Bluegrass Boys State June 24-30 to be held at Millersburg Military Institute, near Paris, Ky., and will be sent to the camp by sponsoring organizations and business firms of Princeton, it is announced.

Chosen for their outstanding qualities in leadership, character and scholarship were Carl Flynn, James Richie, Lucian Hall, "Bubs" Harrison, Charles Phelps and Winford Mitchell.

Leadership counted for 50 per cent with character and scholarship each rating 25 per cent in choosing the boys to attend the camp, it was stated.

Carlisle Orange Post No. 1116, American Legion, is sponsoring three of the boys and will pay all expenses and furnish transportation to and from the camp. Other groups sponsoring one boy each are the Elks Lodge, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and a group of interested merchants.

Originating in Illinois in 1934, the program was adopted by the national organization of the American Legion and now operates in all the states. This is the third year Princeton has participated in the program. The purpose of the organization is to train youth in the fundamentals of good citizenship and governmental functions, a member of the Legion explained.

2 Important Links In County's Roads Have Been Assured

Bridge Near Enon And 8-Mile Piney Grove Road To Be Financed From 2-Cent Gas Tax

Construction of two important and long-sought gaps in the county's road system are assured in the near future, it was learned here Wednesday after a conference of County Judge William G. Pickering and Representative William L. Jones with rural highway officials in Frankfort on Monday.

Bids for the construction of a bridge near Enon on the Enon-Creswell road will be advertised Friday and construction of the bridge will be started in the near future, Judge Pickering said. This will complete the gap in the Fredonia-Creswell road in the northwest section of the county.

The other road promised the county leaders is the 8-mile stretch in the northeast section of the county from Piney Grove to KY 91, the Princeton Hopkinsville highway. Construction of this road will be started just as soon as sufficient funds are available from the 2-cent gasoline tax, maybe this fall, it was stated.

Meanwhile a few remaining signatures for right-of-way on the roads are being secured and are expected to be in the county judge's office within the next two weeks. The road from the top of Cadiz hill near Dawson Springs to Piney Grove has been completed, it was explained.

Originally scheduled to be built with state and federal funds, the Piney Grove road will also be built from the 2-cent gas fund because federal funds for the county have already been exceeded, Judge Pickering said. The bridge on the Fredonia-Creswell road will also be built from the same fund.

The county budget was presented to state officials by Judge Pickering while at Frankfort and received the approval for the coming fiscal year. The tax rate for the county will be set at a called meeting next Tuesday of the fiscal court to complete all business of the present fiscal year, Judge Pickering added.

Inquiring Reporter QUESTION

Do you think the Office of Price Stabilization has been beneficial? Do you think Congress should renew the price control law when it expires next month, and if so, with what change?

ANSWERS

Mrs. S. O. Catlett: I think controls should be extended, for while they have not been as effective as they should, some means must be taken to protect the consumer. Especially is this true of the many folk who must continue to live on a fixed income. Those actively engaged in business and labor have some chance to get an adjusted increase but many others do not have this chance. I believe the producer can take care of himself.

D. M. Plymale: I think the O. P. S. has curbed some of the wild inflation but it is not operated satisfactorily at the present time. However, I feel that some type of control is needed and since I cannot answer the proper manner of doing so I am not the one to criticize.

Melvin Fralick: I personally do not think the price control law has done much good in stopping inflation. Prices had advanced too much when controls were passed and very little has been accomplished in rolling these prices back. If the price control law is renewed, it should have more power to control prices and be more strictly enforced.

Mrs. C. D. Pruett: Yes, I think it has helped control prices in many cases. I think the law should be renewed by Congress and more rigidly enforced during the present emergency. I do not believe in controls during normal times.

John Mahan: Price controls are all right if they hit everyone the same but the present law discriminates against the farmer by limiting the price of his beef cattle while everything he has to purchase on the farm continues to advance. If renewed in this manner it will limit the quality as well as quantity of beef because farmers will not use expensive feeds at present prices.

Europe Offers Added Tours For The Tourist

(By Saul Pett)

New York — Like a fine old lady dressed in her Sunday best despite threatening clouds, Europe holds out special added charm to the American tourist this year.

Despite continuing talk of war, steamship and airline bookings for the early summer of 1951 are on a par with last year's, according to the European Travel Commission. There is a strong possibility, says the commission, that the tourist trade this season may even exceed 1950's.

Special added attractions this season include Paris' 2,000th birthday party, the Festival of Britain and Greece's homecoming year.

Paris' anniversary celebration will stretch over six months. On the second Sunday in April, a great banquet will be held for 2,000 of the city's oldest citizens with, of course, a birthday cake of 2,000 candles. Also scheduled for April is a Parisian song festival during which Maurice Chevalier will introduce a birthday song.

Plans for May include a great outdoor concert in the square of the Louvre. Throughout the month balconies all over the French capital will be covered with flowers. The best flower designs will win prizes.

In June, there will be a Montparnasse Week with studios of famous artists open to the public; a Rabelais night at Halls, the great central market, with spectacular displays of food and wine; Victor Hugo night, folk festivals, and a midnight bicycle race through the streets.

Britain's festival opens May 3 for a five-month run to mark the centenary of Prince Albert's great exhibition of 1851. The focal point of the festival will be an exhibition on the south bank of the Thames, a former bombed out area now glistening with spectacular dome, glass buildings and modern and futuristic exhibits.

Greek homecoming year was proclaimed by King Paul to commemorate the 130th year of the nation's independence. Among special events planned is a spectacular revival of the celebrated Delphic Festival.

SIMPSON IN STATES

Sgt. Bobbie J. Simpson, son of Mrs. Hewlett Rogers, is one of more than 100 Kentucky combat veterans from Korea who arrived at Seattle, Wash., last Saturday for a furlough in the Army's rotation program which was started in May, it is announced. Simpson was in Korea when fighting started there and was wounded last year but later returned to active duty.

THERE are a lot of reasons you can expect a new GMC to keep hauling a lot longer than any other truck you can buy.

First is the fact of horsepower. Whether it's a gasoline-powered ½- to 2-tonner with horsepower unbeaten in its class, or one of the new heavy-duty Diesels—you can't beat a GMC for "go!"

But the extra value you find in these great trucks doesn't end at the power plant.

There's the smooth GMC Synchro-Mesh Transmission linked to a sharp-shooting drive line, pouring every ounce of power back to the rugged rear axle. And the solid way horsepower becomes wheel-action—you know there's extra depth of truck performance engineered right down through a GMC's broad-shouldered frame!

And standing guard over these long-time trucks are husky brakes with more area than most—the surest, easiest steering ever devised to direct a pay load home—all controlled from a spacious "Six-Footer" Cab that's Weathersealed for a lifetime.

GMC's come in the widest range of engine-body-chassis combinations to fit any trucking need. The prices? No better buy anywhere! Come see for yourself.

Two Farmers Study Irrigation Plans For Part Of Land

By Oliver C. Allcock

(Soil Conservation Service)

Will irrigation be used on farms in Caldwell county

John Mahan and James B. Shrewsbury, of Princeton, are considering the use of irrigation on improved pastures and on some cultivated crops on their farms in the county. Mr. Shrewsbury manages the Collins-Shrewsbury farm in the Liberty community.

The SCS technician, in cooperation with the Caldwell County Soil Conservation District, will assist Mr. Mahan and Mr. Shrewsbury in studying irrigation and in making plans for installing irrigation systems on these farms.

Plenty of moisture is important for the production of high crop yields. When water is applied on fields during dry periods such as we have experienced this spring, the production of improved pastures, crop seeds and other agricultural crops can be increased.

SCS SECRETARY
M. P. Brown, Jr., was elected secretary and treasurer of the Caldwell County Soil Conservation District supervisors at the regular supervisors' monthly meeting this week.

Mr. Brown will succeed P. M. Sell who filled this position have taken an apartment in the home of Mr. Hard.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fuller, Madisonville, were Friday night guests of his mother, Mrs. Ambie Fuller.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Patton and children, of Evansville, were guests during last week of her mother, Mrs. Ruth Dunning and Miss Betty Dunning.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Long, of Wyand, Ill., visited her mother, Mrs. Rellie Heard, Friday night. Mrs. Heard and daughter, Fella, returned home with them to spend the summer.

Hungarian Journalist Addresses Kiwanians

Dr. Eugene F. Gonda, Hungarian journalist and historian who came last year from Europe to this country to lecture, spoke on "Communism" at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club last Wednesday at the Princeton Hotel.

Dr. Gonda was educated in Hungary and France and was a Paris correspondent of the pre-war liberal press of his country. During World War II he carried on anti-Nazi activities by founding and editing "La Revue Danubienne," a bi-weekly French review directed toward a democratic federalism in Eastern and Central Europe. Later he was forced to flee from France and escaped to Switzerland where he collaborated with the Hungarian Resistance.

Gonda, sponsored by the National Committee for a Free Europe, Inc., is in this country to continue his fight for democratic principles, it was stated.

from the organization of the district in January of 1946 until this year.

GOOD POND LOCATION
How important is the location of a pond?

Mrs. Roberta Glass of the Hopson community likes the location of the newly constructed pond on her farm.

"It can easily be seen from the house," Mrs. Glass said. "When the cattle come to get water, I can count them to see if they are all there and if they are all right. That will be a great convenience to me."

"I will be glad when there is enough rain to fill the pond," Mrs. Glass continued.

IMPROVED DRAINAGE
Shelby Asher made a 1000 mile round trip to supervise the construction of an open drainage ditch on his farm in the Shady Grove community this month.

The 2300 foot ditch is 20 feet wide and two feet deep in the center. It will make possible improved drainage on the bottom land on Mr. Asher's farm.

Mr. Asher is working in Kansas this spring and summer.

Good Nutrition Is Important In Planting Garden

By Dr. W. L. Cash
(County Health Officer)

There are many late gardeners just putting in their first seeds and early gardeners now planning a second crop. Their gardens will be most successful if planned from a nutrition standpoint. In deciding what vegetables and fruits to plant, one sure guide is the Basic Seven Food plan. Not all seven of these basic food groups can be grown in the family garden but vegetables and fruits from three of the groups can.

The first of these is made up of those foods that contain vitamin A. Foods from this group which can be home grown include: greens of all kinds, yellow squash, sweet potatoes, snap beans, carrots and kale.

A second group is composed of those foods rich in vitamin C. Although citrus fruits are "out" as far as Kentucky gardeners are concerned, it is possible to raise tomatoes, strawberries, salad greens and cabbage. All of these contain vitamin C when served raw, and tomatoes supply it raw or canned.

The third is a miscellaneous group, including foods that supply various needed vitamins, minerals and other materials. These foods include: potatoes, beets, onions, turnips and radishes.

New York delegates were not authorized by their state convention to sign the Declaration of Independence until five days after the historic signing on July 4, 1776.

GI Loan Date Will Terminate June 30

World War II veterans planning to apply for direct home or farm loans from the Veterans Administration were reminded by VA that the direct government loan program ends by law on June 30, 1951.

VA said it would scarcely be possible in most instances to process applications before the June 30 deadline that are received by VA regional offices after June 15.

The Housing Act of 1950 authorized VA to make direct loans up to $10,000 at 4 per cent interest to World War II veterans with which to buy or build a home, or to build or improve a farmhouse. The act stipulated that VA was to make these direct loans in these areas of the country where the regular GI loans were not available from lenders. The law further authorized VA to designate the areas eligible for direct loans.

Since the program got underway last summer, more than 2,800 counties or parts of counties in the United States have been designated as eligible for direct loans.

As of May 10, about $60 million of the $150-million authorized for the program had been disbursed or reserved for pending applications for direct loans to veterans.

While the direct government loan program ends June 30, the regular GI loan program does not expire until July 31. Both programs are subject to the same minimum down payment imposed by the credit conditions announced October 12, 1940.

D-X

Protects the FLAME ZONE

D-X is a high anti-knock gasoline to which a specially refined lubricant has been scientifically blended. This lubricant gives extra protection to the power parts of the "flame zone"—the open chambers, which crankcase oil alone often fails to protect adequately. In addition, D-X provides quick starts, knockless power and low mileage. Try a tankful today! At any D-X dealer's station.

D-X with the "extra" of Extrinol is a tougher, safer, more economical motor oil to use. Change to D-X today!

The "SAUCER TEST" Gives You FLAMING PROOF

When you burn D-X Lubricating Gasoline and ordinary gasoline in open saucers, you can see the difference. Ordinary gasoline leaves a dry, hard carbon deposit. D-X leaves a smooth, oily protective film. Flaming Proof that D-X provides extra engine protection.

FESCUE PRODUCES MILK

A gain of 20 gallons of milk a day when his herd of 40 dairy cows was turned on fescue and Ladino clover in April was reported by F. E. Jones of Caldwell county to Farm Agent R. A. Mabry. When the herd, in late April, was turned again on orchard grass and Ladino clover, production decreased about the same amount.

State winners in all these programs receive educational trips to the 1951 National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, in November. In addition, the ten clubs in the State reporting the best group program of health improvement each receive $20 for health education.

National awards are $300 college scholarships for six selected State winners in 4-H Electric and eight in the Safety program. In the 4-H Health program a $100 U. S. Savings Bond is awarded to each member of the Blue Award group, to be used by the winners to start a fund for protecting and maintaining their personal health.

Last year's State winners in Kentucky were: Farm and Home Electric—Chester Prim, Alexandria; and Farm and Home Safety—Barbara Kidwell, of Augusta.

All three programs are supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service. Complete information will be furnished by County Extension Agents.

WINTER POTATOES

Potatoes now growing will be mature about July 1, and no matter how they are taken care of, they become almost worthless soon after Christmas. A good plan is to have a summer-planted crop maturing in late fall, to remain usable until next year's early crop comes in.

There are two good varieties suited to this purpose, Sequoia and Katahdin, seed of which is now in cold storage. Planting time is now. Six pounds of seed will plant 100 feet, and both these varieties are capable of multiplying 25 to one, if well tended.

As these potatoes start in a relatively dry time, the land should have been followed up to then, to have held all the moisture possible. In weather such as of the past three years, these potatoes could follow some early crop such as greens or peas, but not if the season is normal.

Planting should be deep, 5 inches below garden level, to take advantage of soil moisture and be independent of whatever the summer rainfall is. Nor will deep-planted potatoes be at a disadvantage should the season be wet. The fertilizer (4-12-8, for example) should be placed in the furrows and stirred into the deep soil to keep the potatoes' roots deep, where there is abundant moisture. The seed should be cut a trifle larger than for the spring crop to furnish more moisture for driving the sprouts to the surface. Seed pieces weighing 1 1/4 to 2 ounces are right.

Just after the sprouts reach the surface, the black flea beetle will attack, and so will the potato leafhopper. Both kill foliage, a condition sometimes confused with blight. Fortunately they can be controlled with DDT, either in 5 per cent dust or in spray made

Caldwell Farmers Need More Sheep

By R. A. Mabry
(County Agent)

Harvesting of fescue for seed with a combine should be underway now in many fields over the county. Farmers having seed to harvest should watch it closely and start combines when a few seed will shatter from a majority of the heads in the field. Even one or two days delay when the seed is ready for combining will cause heavy losses from shattering.

Breeding ewes are available at somewhat lower prices than were estimated earlier in the year. If you plan to buy ewes this year, don't delay too long as prices are likely to advance some as the season advances.

Many more farmers in this county probably should have from 25 to 50 breeding ewes in addition to the livestock now being carried on the farm. Sheep require little if any grain, do not take much barn room per head and is the only type of livestock that has consistently paid back the original cost of the ewes plus feed costs the first year.

Under normal conditions and with present prices a flock of 25 ewes should gross between $800 and $900 each year. The outlook for sheep for the next several years is very favorable.

John T. George, Marion road, treated small areas of Johnson grass with atricide last year and apparently got 100 per cent kill as none of the grass has come back this spring. Now is the time to apply weed killers to kill this noxious grass. There are several materials that can be used which have proved successful locally. These include atricide, 2-4-D with 2-4-5, added, Trichloroacetate (TCA) and sodium chlorite. Normally it will take two to three doses to get a complete kill.

of 50 per cent wettable DDT, 2 tablespoons per gallon of water, or one pound to 50 gallons. Three applications, starting at the first sign of sprouting and repeating in 10 days and 10 days again, have increased late potato yields by 66 per cent.

FIVE INDIAN CHAMPS

Cleveland — (AP) — Only five Cleveland Indian players have won the American League batting championship in the 50 year history of the circuit. Nap Lajoie won the crown in 1903 and 1904, Elmer Flick was champ in 1905, Tris Speaker did the trick in 1916, Lew Fonseca won in 1929 and Lou Boudreau topped the league in 1944.

One of the 32 atolls in the Marshall Islands is named "New Year."

Palm nuts are a main source of food for the natives of equatorial Africa.

Shallow Stirring Best For Tobacco

Tobacco planted with a mechanical setter should be cultivated immediately after setting is completed. This does much to loosen the soil and prevent packing caused by the setter wheels. If practical, use a small harrow-type plow or a five-tooth cultivator immediately after setting. If the crop is set by hand, cultivation should begin as soon as the ground dries out and before a crust forms on the surface.

The main benefit of cultivation is to control weeds. Another benefit is to keep the soil surface loose so that water run-off will be retarded. In all cases cultivation should be shallow and only as often as needed to break the soil crust and control weeds. Usually two to three cultivations are needed. This is true if the ground was thoroughly prepared before the crop was set and was in good physical condition at setting time.

Avoid deep cultivation at all times and stop all cultivation before plants are damaged. Usually, the root spread of a plant is equal to or greater than the leaf spread, and the roots are usually found within one to two inches of the surface. Cultivation should never be deep enough to disturb these roots and, as the plant grows and develops, all cultivation should stop before the plants are knee high. If weeds persist after this time they should be chopped out with a hoe. In extremely dry weather it may be desirable to run through the middles with a small drag to break the crust, thereby reducing evaporation from soil.

There is a definite relationship between the cultivation of the crop and the quality of the leaf produced. Shallow cultivation, sufficient to control weeds and break the crust, will aid greatly in producing leaf of high quality. On the other hand, deep cultivation destroys many roots, slows growth, delays maturity, and may result in the production of heavy red tobacco undesirable at the present time.—Russell Hunt, College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky.

Mr. Executive-

.... NO Employee Health Insurance package is complete without BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD

.... and only Blue Cross-Blue Shield provides such complete protection at so little cost!....

Sponsored by the American Hospital and American Medical Association, Nationally, organized and supported, through contacts, by Kentucky Hospitals and Kentucky Doctors, locally; Blue Cross - Blue Shield is able to offer working men and women unusual service at unusual low cost. Here are the basic facts about your Kentucky Blue Cross - Blue Shield Plan that you as an executive, should know:

Service Benefits

Blue Cross provides the "Service" a subscriber needs during his hospital stay—not so many dollars per day which in these days of high hospital cost so often proves insufficient to cover the bill.

Low Cost

Blue Cross - Blue Shield has low charges. It pays no commission to salesmen. Board members serve without pay. Its tax advantages as a community non-profit corporation are reflected in its rates.

Equal Family Benefits

The worker's wife and children are entitled to all the benefits of the contract, too. This is important; dependents use about 80% of all hospital care.

Continued Protection

Once a member, always a member regardless of age, health or state of employment. If you change jobs, you can join the group at your new place. If there is no group, you can pay directly to Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

Easy Admission

No credit references or contact with employer is necessary when you enter the hospital. Your Blue Cross - Blue Shield cards are your passport for prompt hospital, surgical, obstetrical services.

It's up to you, Mr. Executive . . . to join the 3,000 Kentucky employers who are already making this plan available to their employees through payroll deduction. Blue Cross - Blue Shield are practical, democratic, hospital and surgical-medical care programs which have won acclaim and support at all levels of American life, not only from labor and business groups, but from civic organizations of every description; churches, medical professions and hospitals.

News From The Past

News representing lives, hopes, dreams and emotions of those who made up the populace of Princeton and Caldwell county almost 40 years ago recorded nowhere but in the yellowed files of Twice-A-Week Leader of those years will be published as a regular Leader feature. The articles are reproduced just as the Princeton reporters, shortly after the turn of the century, wrote them.

May 29, 1931. Dr. J. W. Stegar, former Princetonian, now of Newport, was elected president of the Northeastern Dental Association at a meeting in Covington last week.

May 29, 1931. Bayless Cantrell narrowly escaped death last Saturday afternoon at his home on the Eddyville pike when kicked by a young mule. He finally escaped from the stall and has been under the care of a physician but is now able to go about.

July 3, 1931. The Leader was signally honored last week at the meeting of the West Kentucky Press Association at Paducah. Second prize for the best half-page and quarter page ads were awarded this office, while honorable mention was given The Leader on front page, equivalent to third place.

July 17, 1931. The month of June is credited with being the hottest June in sixty years, by the United States Weather Bureau.

July 21, 1931. Thursday was a gala day for several elderly residents of the Liberty section when a celebration was held in honor of W. P. Perry on his eighty-ninth birthday, a former resident of the county now visiting here from his home in New Philadelphia, Ohio. Doubtless five of the oldest citizens of the county were present, they being the guests of honor, W. P. Perry, 89; Mrs. Lucy Seely, 89; Jake Perry, 68; and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Perry, both 80. At the heart of ANY town

At the heart of any town ... at the center of any city ... along the lanes of any rural settlement ... wherever men live and labor and search for happiness—there you will find the Church.

It has always been so since the time of Christ—even in the days when men paid with their lives for being Christians ... when cellars were chapels, and catacombs were hiding-places for the faithful.

So deeply has the Church imprinted its truth upon the life of our country that none—not even the man who tries to live without religion—can visualize an America without the marks of Christianity. Our heritage of freedom, our dream of peace, all of our treasured blessings and sacred hopes were born of the teachings of our Church, of the faith of our fathers.

Attend, join, support some church. Your spiritual riches can never be taken from you; they can be lost ONLY THROUGH NEGLECT.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"In Kentucky" Magazine Features State Parks

The summer issue of "In Kentucky" magazine, now off the press, contains an eight page feature on the accommodations at Kentucky's state parks. It was announced today. Four of the eight pages are in color.

The magazine carries a full color picture of the dreamboats at Pennyrile State Park on its cover.

Other features include plans for the 1951 State Fair, new steel mill at Owensboro, Kentucky's air and ground national guard units, and the announcement of a photo contest by the magazine. There are twenty-three features in the summer issue of the state publication.

would greet their sister's friends with the natural gallantry given to a pretty girl of their own age. I was neither pretty nor their age, but the young doctor and his handsome brother gave all the neighborhood children a feeling of being welcome.

Any family, she says, can occasionally have a children's party and serve ice cream and cake.

In addition to a child's personal life and home life he has a social life, where he takes a place in the group, and he should contribute something worthwhile to it. Acquiring social consciousness is part of the process in becoming an adult. It should begin early and continue to grow, through sympathetic interest in others.

'Diet' Is A Word With Four Letters

(By Cynthia Lowry)

One of the nation's largest insurance companies (Metropolitan Life) recently launched one of the most ambitious programs in business history. It proposes to persuade 25,000,000 Americans to shed 500,000,000 pounds of excess weight.

I cannot restrain myself from predicting utter and complete failure on the company's part, even though they mount their corporate white horse with the blessings of the American Medical Association, the Heart Association and other interested organizations.

To lose weight you've gotta diet and diet. In addition to being a four-letter word to most of us, it is also a private affair. It's one thing to join into a popular national movement, like giving blood to the Red Cross, beating your neighbor to a price-war bargain counter, raising your hem-line an inch or furnishing your house in late-Victorian style like everyone else is. Going on a diet is something else, and decision springs from an entirely different, individualistic source.

Of course the insurance company isn't being completely altruistic in its interest in getting chubby Americans to slim down. It is simply a matter of statistics and good business. The records prove that ladies and gentlemen without excess tonnage have on an average a longer life span.

Your heirs and assignees really can beat the numbers, hit the policy jackpot if you indulge in heart's content in double hot fudge sundae with whipped cream.

I'm sure that too many of us Americans are hauling around more weight than we need. But I don't think that many of us are going to be moved to join any fat-destruction campaign conducted on a mass-appeal basis. Diets come into a person's life in another way and no matter what the experts can do to sugar-coat the process and make it sound like fun, it's a grim business re-ing blood to the Red Cross, beating your neighbor to a price-war bargain counter, raising your hem-line an inch or furnishing your house in late-Victorian style like everyone else is. Going on a diet is something else, and decision springs from an entirely different, individualistic source.

I'm sure that too many of us Americans are hauling around more weight than we need. But I don't think that many of us are going to be moved to join any fat-destruction campaign conducted on a mass-appeal basis. quiring fortitude, constant morale-building and unflagging determination.

People go on diets under various circumstances. They are frequently scared into losing weight by their doctor who regards them gravely and talks about heart strain and blood pressure. In most cases, they have to be kept good and scared or they'll forge and slide into the old mashed potato and banana-split rut again.

Others diet when the placket of last summer's dress stubbornly refuses to close, although first the victim will try to blame it on a new girdle. Another excellent stimulus is the careless remark of a friend you haven't seen for six months—"Why, Harriett, you look wonderful, but haven't you taken on some weight?" It usually takes about three of these encounters in rapid succession to really put a girl on the lamb-chop and lettuce-leaf regime.

For some time it has been women's habit to overlook the average male's interest in maintaining his waist-line, although a guy who can still button his World War I—or even World War II—uniform is invariably a drab, dull braggart. The lads, however,

Specs Set Precedent For Goggled Players

(By Tom Greene)

Buffalo, N. Y. — When the skinny rookie from New York City's east side broke in at second base for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1921, most of the fans were certain he would never last.

Because young George Toporcer wore eye glasses, everyone connected with baseball thought he would seriously injure himself if the ball took a bad bounce or a curve caught him in the eye.

But after the next season, during which "Specs" whaled the ball at a .323 clip in 116 games, the fans and the Cards' owners would just as soon have seen spectacles on all their players.

MANAGING AGAIN

Today, Specs Toporcer—the first major leaguer to wear glasses on the playing field—is managing a ball club for the first time in 10 years.

He brings to the Buffalo Bisons of the International League a wealth of experience as player, manager, club operator, scout and farm director. And he hopes that at last he is on the trail to his goal—head man on a major league club.

After eight years in the Cardinals infield, Toporcer shifted to Rochester where he and Heinie Sand reeled off 223 double plays to set an International League record. That was in 1929, the year the league named him its Most Valuable Player. After World War II, Specs was elected to the league's newly established Hall of Fame.

SUCCEEDED SOUTHWORTH

He took his first managerial job when he succeeded Billy Southworth as Rochester pilot in mid-season of 1932. From that date until the present, Specs has been handling ball players in almost every section of the country.

Rocky Mount, Hazelton, Little Rock and Albany have been stops. His most prominent association with the majors was as farm director for the Boston Red Sox from 1944 through 1948. During the past two seasons he had been farm supervisor for the Chicago White Sox.

OKAYED CHICO

The White Sox are enjoying the fruits of one of his keen player appraisals: Toporcer went to Fort Worth and okayed Chico Carrasquel, current shortstop sensation.

Chico belonged to Brooklyn and the trade needed only Toporcer's approval.

The 52-year-old Buffalo mentor lives in Scarsdale, N. Y., with his wife, daughter and two grandchildren.

Specs gets a chuckle watching today's bespectacled stars, like Dom DiMaggio, Bob Dillinger, Earl Torgeson, Eddie Joost, Sam Chapman and Jim Konstanty, calmly accepted by the fans — goggles and all.

After all, he paved their way.

Spiritual Education Subject Of UK Study

A special four-week seminar in moral and spiritual education began this week as a highlight of the University of Kentucky summer session program for classroom teachers. Dr. Ellis F. Hartford, director of the project, said the purpose of the study is to acquaint teachers with practical methods for emphasizing moral and spiritual values in the public schools. Material to be presented at the U. K. seminar has been tested during the past two years at pilot schools located in Murray, Bowling Green, Ft. Thomas, Paris, Morehead and Cane Run.
